ORDER IN FIRST DEGREE

Diadato Found Guilty After Jury was Out Four Hours— Sentenced to be Hanged May 26, 1910—Prisoner Said He Couldn't See Why He Should be Hung— Others Sentenced.

The criminal superior court put in an entire day on Saturday for the purpose of completing the murder case which has been under way for several days. The arguments and charge were made after which the jury considered the matter for over four hours and bringing in a verdict of guilty in the first degree against Dominic Canale, alias Diadato, for the shooting and killing of Alphonse Barbo in New London May 27, 1909. The accused was informed of the verdict and sentenced to be hanged at state prison May 26, 1910, one day short of a year from the commission of the crime. Diadato was considerably affected by the verdict and sentence, and asked why he should be sentenced to be hanged when he had been bothered so many times by that fellow. He asked for a verdict of guilty in the first degree against the other men friends of the prisoner who were with him at the time and again while they killed him time and again.

Wouldn't Plead Guilty.

The prisoner, it is understood, had refused to plead guilty to second degree murder, previous to the trial. His attorneys have not decided what they will do, but some steps will be taken towards appeal or some action in his behalf. The jury at one time stood six to six, being equally divided between first and second degree murder. All the time they were satisfied as to his guilt in some degree.

The court opened at nine o'clock the arguments were made by Attorney Cronin, Smith, Freeman and Hull, which were followed by Judge Wheeler's charge of about an hour. They were sent out to consider the matter at 1:30, and found the dinner awaiting them in their room, having been provided for by the court. The direction of Sheriff Brown. Nothing was heard from them until 5:40 o'clock when they returned and through Foreman Brewster a verdict of guilty in the first degree was given.

Sentenced to be Hanged.

A motion for sentence was made after the verdict was returned, but according to the statutes, the hanging could not be fixed until a month after the next session of the supreme court, which is expected to convene in December. Judge Wheeler asked the accused if he had anything to say.

WEDDINGS.

Kirkpatrick-Hovey.

The wedding of Miss Grace Eleanor Hovey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hovey, and William Franklin Kirkpatrick took place at 6 o'clock Saturday evening at the bride's home, No. 6 Cliff street, at which there were immediate relatives and a few intimate friends in attendance. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Lewellyn Pratt, pastor emeritus of the Broadway Congregational church, before a bank of palms, white chrysanthemums and southern smilax, which with autumn foliage made up the decorations of the double parlor. The bride, accompanied by her father and preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Susan Irene Gallus, was met by the groom and his best man, Frederick R. Pender of Kingston, R. I., before the altar. Music was played by Miller's orchestra as the bride party was entering. During the ceremony the Spring Song was played by the orchestra. The program of music was rendered during the evening, the orchestra being located in the music room. The ushers were Joseph D. Allen and Rufus H. Vaughn.

Funerals.

Dr. George R. Harris.

One of the largest Masonic funerals Norwich ever witnessed was held on Sunday afternoon, when solemn services were conducted over the remains of Dr. George R. Harris by Columbian commandery, No. 4, K. T., of which the deceased was a past commander, at Masonic temple, which was crowded to the limit by the hundreds gathered to see their late respected physician. The body lay in state in the asylum of Columbian commandery in the temple from 12 until 1 o'clock Sunday noon, during which there was a steady line of people of all walks in life to view the remains. As guard of honor during the hour there were Past Commanders N. Douglas Sevin, S. Alpheus Gilbert, E. Allen Bidwell, J. Herbert George, A. C. Constock and Charles W. Gale.

Funerals.

George Robert Harris, M. D.

The services were held at 2 o'clock, at which time the asylum of the commandery was filled with relatives and friends, and many were unable to get in. The funeral service was conducted by Commander Charles Billings Chapman, with Prelate Emeritus Costello Lippitt acting as prelate. The service was most impressive, during which the Temple quartette, including Eben Learned, Louis A. Wheeler, Charles S. Cronin and James B. Jackson, sang "Gazing on the Ray, Thy Will Be Done and Lead, Kindly Light." The musical portion of the service was in charge of Frederick W. Lester, and previous to the service he rendered on the pipe organ the funeral march from Beethoven and at the close "Dead March in Saul."

Funerals.

Lindberg-Keeney.

A pretty autumn wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Keeney of 108 Broad street, Hartford, Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, when their only daughter, Ida Bell Keeney, was united in marriage with Harry A. Lindberg of Norwich. The bridesmaid was Miss Axeline Lindberg of Norwich, a sister of the groom. The best man was Harry Keeney of East Hartford, a cousin of the bride.

GREENVILLE

Halloween Party Given by Miss Luella H. Mathews—Hunting Party Starts This Morning—Other Mention.

A pretty Halloween party was given by Miss Luella H. Mathews at her home, rear of 428 Broad avenue, on Saturday night, when ten of her little friends were present. All the Halloween games were played. In stringing ten of the pumpkin seeds Miss Mathews won the prize, a box of bonbons, and in pinning the number nearest to the pumpkin's eye Master Bradbury Wade was first, the prize being a doll with a new dress. The little people paired off and marched to the dining room, led by Miss Mathews, and toward Collins, a march being played by Miss Myra May Mathews, a cousin of the hostess, who entertained her guests in a charming manner.

The dining room was trimmed with autumn leaves and foliage, and all kinds of funny faces made to correspond with the blinding of lights from old candlesticks with shades to match. The table was handsomely decorated, the centerpiece being a large sunflower basket filled with bonbons attached to which were yellow ribbons, held at each place by little black witches, the latter being the favor of the evening. Pumpkin faces greeted the guests as they came up the street to the house. After chocolate cake, fruit and home made candies were served, and music and singing enjoyed, the company departed for their homes at 10:30 o'clock, with the return of the day to the little hostess.

Lightweights, O. Jewett City.

A soccer game was played Saturday afternoon on the local gridiron between the Lightweights and a team from Jewett City. The visitors' line was heavier than that of the home team, and through the line plays did not net many gains for the Lightweights. Hollis's punting, however, with the runs by Eugene following a double pass brought them well down the field. When the whistle blew in the second half the Lightweights had the ball on Jewett City's one yard line. Quarterback Rydholm ran the team with judgment, and most of the time the ball was in Jewett City's territory.

The Lightweights expect to play a return game at Jewett City next Saturday.

Hunting Party.

Councilman John Heath, Frank Van Duyn, Bert Baker and J. F. Murtha left this morning for a week's hunting trip. Calvin L. Swan will spend the first day with the hunters and will take them out to the hunting grounds in his automobile. The members of the party are expecting full game bags and a fine time on their trip.

Personals.

Charles Card was in Greenville Sunday on an automobile trip from Derby.

Miss Alice Kilroy of Newark, N. J., is spending a few weeks at her home on White street.

Miss Annie J. Joseph of New York has returned after spending a few days with relatives.

Mrs. Rosina Brady has returned to Pawtucket, R. I., after visiting Andrew Farrell of Fourth street.

Matthew Hourigan, John Enright and Joseph Campion of Willimantic spent Sunday at their home in town.

Thure Rydholm of Rockville was the guest over Sunday of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rydholm of Prospect street.

Henry Godbout, who has been suffering from water on one knee for the past week, and on the other for about a year, is improving, attended by Dr. Sweet.

MONTVILLE LICENSE.

Hearing on Petition to Recount to Be Heard Wednesday.

The hearing on the petition of Charles E. Bagnall of Montville for a recount of the license vote cast at the October election was to have taken place here Saturday, but it has been postponed until Wednesday next at 10 a. m. at the same place.

The result of the vote as declared by the moderator gave a majority of one for license, but the temperance people declare a vote was counted for license that should have been counted against it.
